Filtronic Sage Laboratories Incorporated is pleased to announce the consolidation of its Natick, MA and Merrimack, NH operations to a new 39,000 ft² facility in Hudson, NH. This move provides Sage with additional floor space required to support recent program awards and future expansion. The new facility incorporates improved manufacturing capabilities, including a fully equipped environmental test lab and model shop.

The location of the new facility in Hudson, just north of the Massachusetts border, has enabled us to retain the majority of our existing staff from both sites and will allow us to maintain and expand a highly skilled workforce going forward.

The Hudson building is currently being outfitted to meet our needs with a target completion date of early July 2005. Our expectation is that employees from the existing operations will be all moved to the new building by early August 2005.

We are confident that the consolidation of our operations in this site will greatly enhance our ability to service our existing and future customer base. We are currently in the move planning phase of the project and we will be in touch with all customers over the next several weeks to discuss matters of specific concern.

Sincerely,

SAGE LABORATORIES, INC.
